Would it be advisable to avoid pregnancy? Please know that we have always talked about adoption, so it is not the end of the world if I can't have my own kids.Also, I was told that my adhesions were caused by an appendectomy (appendix had not ruptured) I had in 2004, but as it was all keyhole surgery, I don't understand why? Please note that they also removed a small cist from both the ovaries and bowel at the the same time. I am prone to small ovarian cists that come and go on their own (most of the time).Can you help with my questions?Many Thanks for any information you have,Kind Regards,[NAME]

1-132464205.xml.txt|11|11|ampyra. I have been taking ampyra for apx. 5 years 10 mg bid I have MS. It has improved my walking speed and other things also. Initially the Rx was free to me non formulary. Last year although it was still non formulary medicare insurance would allow it with a copay of 80.00 to me. Wanting to decrease my dollar amount my neurologist ordered the generic I requested 4Ap-I have ordered it thru a mailorder compounding pharmacy. I have stopped ampyra for a week now and the 4Ap has not arrived yet. I feel terrible physically-fatigued. I thought the generic would be 6.00 but it is 40.00for 1 month(-the generic is non formulary so not covered by med. ins)....vs the 80.00/month Ampyra. I think this was a bad choice to go to q 4hour dosing instead of the every12 hr.dose. I feel sick and don't know what to do. Do you have any suggestions?

1-135533695.xml.txt|9|13|Dear Sir (Or Madam). I've been suffering from a continuous pain in the gums, teeth... area top and bottom 24/7 FOR THE LAST 60 YEARS I'm now 74. On a scale of 0-10 at this very moment is 10 . Usually is around 4 but NEVER has left me. I've seen, in several countries and cities from doctors to psychiatrists, including a very thorough study at Tufts University Dental School of Medicine, Boston. They found my gums in better shape than most people. This happened about 40 years ago. Thanks to God, against all odds,I've been able to pursue a career and work and live in an up and down seesaw. NOBODY believes me! NOBODY can understand that I can have this pain while appearing like functioning "normal". I'm now 74 and I think that I'll take this down with me to the grave. But I don't complain. There are people who probably are a lot worse off than me. This problem is AGRAVATED GREATLY if a) I sneeze. b) I Bite or burn my tongue while drinking something hot. c) I'm sleepy and/or my eyes hurt. I found this site in the Internet, not thinking that I'd find anything since every time I mention this to any doctor or health professional. Today, I went to the office of a psychiatrist friend of mine who after MANY years I re-encountered where I live (FL) and when I mentioned to him that this pain could be part of my anxiety and/or depression he changed the conversation instantly, what made me think that he didn't want to face my pain problem, probably because he didn't know what to say. If anyone reads this and has ANY information, so I can spend the last few years of my life with less pain, I will appreciate it infinitely. At any rate, if my experience can help others that might come after me, particularly young folks, that would be a great consolation. God bless the scientists. I can't write anymore. The pain is killing me. I can't think more. Sincerely, [NAME] [EMAIL]

10649.xml.txt|7|7|Metformin varieties. As of today, I have been on Metformin HCL 500MG twice a day, for two weeks now. Was diagnosed via 495 blood sugar result and now down to 180 this morning. Pills were prescribed from ER as I have no doctor of my own and awaiting ACA insurance. My friend gave me two bottles of Metformin her mother had used before she died, and I was wondering if I could take them myself. The first is (according to the label on the bottle) GLIP/METFORM2.5-500MTAB TEVA USA, ONE BY MOUTH EVERY DAY WITH A MEAL. The pill is white, flat sides, oval shaped, and has 7456 on one side and 93 on the other. The second says GLYB/METFORM 2.5/500TAB ACTAV MID Generic for GLUCOVANCE 2.5/500 TAB. TAKE TWO TABLETS BY MOUTH IN THE MORNING AND THEN TAKE ONE TABLET BY MOUTH IN THE EVENING. This pill is about the same size as the above listed pill, but with what looks like P., then 752. Nothing is on the opposite side. I have to ask this because while I am waiting for my insurance to kick in, I cannot get a refill on the Metformin HCL I am taking now since I have no doctor to go through. So, if these extras I was given are just as generic as mine, can I take them? Would I adjust the dosage? And, if so, how should I take them (dosage and how many a day)? Being poor sucks, so I hope you can help me out... Thanks! [NAME]

1-136624365.xml.txt|6|9|Rehabbing a finger that was splinted. I badlydislocated my finger 7 weeks ago. I reset it myself as it happened late in the evening. I splinted it myself with a store-bought splint because of concern for a break as well as ligament damage. I just went to see an orthopedic doctor for the first time today (yes, I'm kicking myself for not going earlier). The X-ray showed that the finger is still offset somewhat, perhaps indicating that some of the ligaments were ruptured. (The bone was ok. I guess we won't know if it was ever broken.) Nonetheless, I have to see a surgeon for an opinion in a few days. Meanwhile, there is still some swelling and the ring finger that was in the splint is out but stiff as a board. I'm concerned and not sure what possibilities to expect. I certainly know you won't know what the situation is or what the surgeon will say but I was curious (a) what possibilities I might expect and (b) how problematic it is that the finger is so stiff...should I expect to regain motion...can it be rehabbed? I'm assuming so, and if so, how long does it take to regain motion from a finger that has been splinted for so long?

1-135983184.xml.txt|6|6|Hi All, I am from India and really worried. I have a 6 months old baby girl. I have read the article on Lactose intolerance. She is unable to digest any formula milk or any milk products. When she was a new born, I started giving her Lactogen (a formula milk) a little bit along with my milk. She was fine with it but after 3 weeks, I switched her to another formula milk named Nan Pro 0 which is for babies upto 1 year. She started drinking that along with my breast milk. After 2 weeks, she started getting Diarrhea and a severe one where she pooped at least 15 times in one day. Therefore, I consulted the doctor and the doctor immediately asked me to put her on breast milk only. I did try that but she was hungry and crying therefore, I gave her a little bit of formula milk aswell. She was file with all the medicines. However, once the medicine stooped, she again started getting diarrhea. This continued on and off. After a while, the doctor asked me to stop the formula milk and start giving her Zerolac (soy milk) along with breast feeding. I did that and everything smoothened. However, after 2 months, I asked my doctor if we can start giving her any type of milk apart from zerolac as I was concerned about her getting calcium in her body with having milk. The doctor askedme to give her formula milk (Nan Pro 0). I did that but just after half an hour, she suddenly started vomiting which continued till she had the milk in her stomach. Once that stopped, she started getting diarrhea which continued till 3 days. She was put back on Zerolac again and breast milk. As she is now 6 months old, I thought of giving Cerelac to her but again she did not digest it and went through the same problem again. I am unable to find the right doctor here in India where I live. Please help my daughter in this situation. Please let me know the contact detail may be an email address of any doctor with whom I can discuss my case. Please help us. Thanks for all your help. Regards,

1-132131517.xml.txt|6|6|Vamousse head lice treatment labe claims. To the best of my knowledge, any head lice treatment that claims to "Kill" lice and/or eggs is considered by FDA to be a drug claim and therefore needs to contain an FDA-registered pediculicide (kills lice) or an FDA-approved ovicide (kills eggs). Otherwise the product is considered to be misbranded and a "new drug" requiring appropriate testing. The "Vamousse" head lice treatment claims "Kills 100% lice and eggs" and does not conform. In addition, the claim "kills 100%" is in violation of FTC rulings which prohibit claiming "100%". This company has also introduced a Head Lice Prevention product which is also in violation of FTC rulings (see FTC vs Lornamead). I think that you should research these issues and publish your findings. Thank you.

1-131798397.xml.txt|5|5|Levalbuterol and Budesonide Inhalation Products. After calling TEVA Pharmaceuticals, they relayed that the stability and storage information printed on their Levalbuterol 1.25 mg/3 mL and 0.63 mg/3 mL Inhalation Solution, as well as their Budesonide 0.5 mg/2 mL and 0.25 mg/2 mL Inhalation Suspension packages is information directly pulled from DailyMed, hence NIH. I am trying to determine if there is any extended stability information for either product, as the nebs are not singly packaged, and therefore a significant amount of product is being wasted in our facility due to the information provided. When name brand Xopenex was still available, Sepracor was able to provide our facility with more stability information that enabled us to refrigerate the product in the foil pouch, continuing to protect it from light: i.e., "allows use of product through its labeled expiry." It would be greatly appreciated if some additional information could be provided regarding the above situation. Thank you for your attention to this matter. almost 9 long years. I've been to the doctor and he just put me on birth control saying it will balance itself out. That didn't work. We tried another birth control..it didn't work either. Ever since this problem started I've had terrible migraines, I gained weight (which I've tried to exercise and diet off), severe vaginal pain, cramping, heavy bleeding, blood clots the size of my hand. I've probably gone through 1000's of underwear and my life revolves around this issue. My sex life is one sided (which sucks) and I just want help..what should I do..I feel like I should have another doctor..

1-119980475.xml.txt|3|6|I have been dealing with an autoimmune disease for almost 4 years now, I've been tested for many things and the doctors can't seem to find what exactly is wrong. It began with pain, swelling and stiffness in my feet and toes.A lot of the pain is joint stiff n ess and my skin feels like its being burned. Over time it has moved into my knees also. I am always tired. Recently I've been getting pains in my stomache and feeling sick. Does any of this sound like Lupus?? I've tested negative for it before, but the more I read about it I feel that's what i could have. Any ideas would be greatly appreciated.

1-136441717.xml.txt|3|5|sideeffects from tecfedera. Hello, My name is [NAME]. I started taking Tecfedera sometime in April. As prescribed started with the 1/2 dose, and immediately had the flushing, swelling of my lips and nose. I called my Dr. he said it's not uncommon take an aspirin with every dose. I did, and it seemed to lessen. I started the full dose. Everyday I took the pill, my pain increased! After a few weeks, the pain I usually had in flair ups, had now multiplied to an intolerable level! I stopped the Tecfedra. Unfortunately the pain did not! Until today, my pain level is at it maximum. Nothing I've taken such as Percocet, oxycodone etc. will not relieve it!! I've also since developed frequent sweating and cellulitis on my left thigh and abdomen! Has anyone else had these problems? PLEASE! If so, tell me what they did to stop them! Sincerely, [NAME] cell [CONTACT]

1-136400545.xml.txt|3|4|Article on Exercise for Impaired - Overweight - Asthmatics. I just found the site through the article on breathing difficulty. My frustration is, WHAT exercises to do with asthma? Today I walked out of the door of the house to take a walk, a beautiful, cool, blustery, sunny day. Suddenly I couldn't catch my breath, my upper chest felt 'heavy', and I had to go back inside and sit down for a while. I'm no exercise weenie, before a couple of bad accidents (car crashes waiting at stop lights!) I used to play softball, volleyball, basketball, even a bit of rugby, I was a dancer and a weight-exerciser, a bicyclist, rollerblader, tree climber. Even today, BP is typically 110-120 over 70-80, heart rate is fine too. Is this just asthma? WHAT exercises can I do, safely? Sure, we ALL get it, exercise is good for us. Just which ones? LOTS of us with asthma would love help here. Thanks.

1-131159031.xml.txt|3|4|Bowel Ischemia. My mother recently died from Bowel Ischemia and Septic Shock. My question is this, she was in the ER for 12 hours before she was even seen by the general surgeon and then he wasn't convinced that it was this condition yet. He said that he'd check on her in the morning once she was finally put into an ICU room (this was at 11 p.m.). I last spoke to her at midnight that evening and that was the last time that she was conscious. By the time she got to the ICU just 2-3 hours later, she was unresponsive and put on life support. Surgery was eventually performed later that afternoon and 90% of her small intestine had to be removed. She died early the next evening. My question to you is did they wait too long to do anything for her? Could she have been saved if surgery had been done sooner? I'm possibly thinking of bringing on a lawsuit.....Please advise with any answers to my questions that you can give. Thank you!

1-120034375.xml.txt|2|7|Okay, so for about a year or two I've had chronic depression, insomnia, migraines, mistaking stomache problems as something worse, and having issues focusing on many of things. At first i thought i had ADD because ive never been tested for it, and because im young and dumb i took 2 pills of aderol because i was having very bad issues focusing. It worked and i was able to focus way better, but seeing all of these symptoms makes me think its not ADD. I'm only 16 years old, and I've just started getting tired of going through this every day of my life! So based on on all of this information I've provided you, do you believe that I may have GAD and should talk fo my doctor, or does it sound like something different?

1-133027719.xml.txt|2|4|Many of us have a fear of getting an asymptomatic, insideous perforation in the digestive tract -- one that leads to vague complaints or even degenerative conditions but doesn't announce itself in any acute way. Can this ever happen? And if it does, how can a patient detect it? There are stories of people swallowing needles and they don't even know it! One answer I've heard put forward is that foreign objects embedded in tissue become encased in some kind of hard flesh and somehow eliminated from the body. Could this really happen? Is there something I could read about it? What about the people who have found foreign objects still sitting around in their tissues after aeons? I'm one of those internet worry-words. I go to online forums where people really want to know the worst case scenario for things like this. This particular issue has worried me for years. Thanks for discussing it with me. [NAME]

Once you are exposed to Carbon Monoxide and the source of the leak is found and resolved (i.e., source is Furnace and shut off by the Gas Company), and the air is clear, is it still necessary to have the oxygen treatments and/or blood tests, or, do the levels in your body go back to normal afterwards. I understand that there could be long term effects based on the term of the exposure, but, if you do not lose consciousness, are the treatments still necessary? Should someone still have oxygen treatment, blood-work, CT scans, heart/lung scans if the problem has been resolved and air is clear? It has been over 48 hours since the exposure.
